

MILITANT SUFFRAGIST FINDS HOUSEMaid's JOB BETTER LIVING

Miss Kitty Marion, Active in England and Here, Recognized by Her Voice.

Oppressed friends who since May have been seeking Miss Kitty Marion, the young militant speaker, will today be surprised to find her has been responsible for the finding of her in a furnished room house at No. 182 West One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street. A woman who called there heard "Molly Brown," employed as a housemaid, speaking and recognizing the voice as that of a speaker at Mrs. G. H. P. Belmont's Suffrage meetings. Miss Marion was a member of the Women's Political Union in London. She was arrested many times for taking part in the demonstrations of the suffragists, and was one of the women forcibly fed by the English authorities while conducting hunger strikes in jail.

After the beginning of the European war Miss Marion, being German by birth, found it necessary to come to the United States. In New York

Spent Income on Those She Took From Institutions—Property to One Orphan.

The will of Mrs. Jane Marrott Beadel, died yesterday, revealed the fact that although childless she possessed such a motherly instinct that she adopted eight children, most of them from State institutions, and reared them as her own. In her will she bequeathed all her personal property, her jewelry and life insurance of $10,000 to Margaret Hope Wilson, an orphan she took from the State Charities Aid Association.

Mrs. Beadel was the daughter of the late Charles A. Minton. Following a divorce from her husband, Edward Beadel, twenty years ago, she assumed the name of Jane Marrott which she held until her death. In addition to an income of $600 from a trust fund, she received $1,000 annually.

Nearly all of that money Mrs. Beadel spent upon the eight orphans.

National City Elects Franklin. The close relations that have been built up between the National City Bank, which controls the American International Company, and the group of financiers which dominates the International Mercantile Marine Company, was emphasized yesterday by the election of F. A. E. Franklin, receiver of the latter corporation, as a director of the bank. Mr. Franklin will fit the vacancy caused by the retirement of P. Valentine, who resigned because of ill health.

Big Funeral for Chinaman. Quong Kue, one of the richest and most influential merchants in Chinatown, was buried at Cypress Hills Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral was headed by two bands and fifty carriages and more than 100 people on foot followed the hearse. Quong Kue died Saturday of acute enteritis. He is survived by a wife and five children.

Ten-Foot Fall Kills Child. Emma Kroff, 10, was killed last night in a ten-foot fall from an upper-story window of her home, No. 248 East One Hundred and Twenty-fourth Street. She was playing with several companions when she lost her balance and dropped to the yard, breaking her neck.
